Indiana Libraries Embrace E•vanced Solutions for Event Registration and Room Reservation Management

Indianapolis, IN.; Monday, February 16, 2004 – Indiana libraries are leading the way in replacing time-consuming, inefficient paper-based processes by adopting software from E•vanced Solutions, the leading provider of online interactive solutions for library event registration and meeting room reservation management. Evansville Vanderburgh Public Library (EVPL) is the most recent Indiana library to recognize the value of web-based event registration and room reservations, joining seventeen other Indiana libraries that have purchased E•vanced software in the last two years.

With over 2,200 library programs per year and 155 different organizations using their meeting rooms, EVPL knew they needed to make a change in the way they were managing event registration and meeting room reservations. “With E•vanced Solutions’ E•vents, E•roomreserve, and E•notify products we found a wealth of features and capabilities tailored specifically to the needs of libraries like ours,” said Mike Abaray, Associate Director, EVPL. “We saw how other libraries in Indiana were using E•vanced Solutions to improve productivity and quickly recognized how these products would save us time and money. More importantly, we could see how using E•vanced products would give our patrons more convenient access to information about our programs and meeting spaces, increasing their satisfaction with the library.”

“Evansville Vanderburgh Public Library represents the growing number of libraries in Indiana and the Midwest who recognize how investing in productivity solutions can help them address their budget woes,” said Todd Cutler, president of E•vanced Solutions. “During challenging economic times, organizations must look at how to streamline internal processes while not compromising service. Libraries are choosing our products because they see how we help them use technology to reduce costs while improving service to their communities.”
