FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Summer Reader 2008 Released

Indianapolis, IN – March 3, 2008 — Evanced Solutions, Inc., the leading provider of solutions for library event management, meeting room reservation management, and reading program management has released the 2008 version of Summer Reader, a cost-effective web-based management tool for summer and year-round reading programs and interest groups. “The past couple of years have been very exciting for the development of Summer Reader,” said Rob Cullin, co-founder of Evanced Solutions. “Due to the advancement of new library service models, including increasing customer interactions and providing self-serve options as well as the emphasis on social networking, Summer Reader has really come into its own. Summer Reader is assisting libraries in more efficiently managing their programs as well as increasing participation and completion rates and allowing library staff to increase outreach efforts.

New features for 2008 include:

- multi-logging support
- web widgets
- group registration
- additional prize configuration options
- increased flexibility in reporting
- email, style sheet and report templates
- custom registration/logging field labels
- more configurable text
- additional home page configuration options, and more.
